

The 3rd Annual Virtual Academic Conference Registration Now Open

Register Today for the 2022 Virtual Academic Conference!

On March 26th, 2022, Park instructors, faculty, and staff will come together virtually to explore best teaching practices at our university. This year's keynote, Dr. Tracie Addy, is a renowned expert on diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) - authoring What Inclusive Instructors Do: Principles and Practices for Excellence in College Teaching \(2021\), sharing countless keynotes, and being featured by organizations such as AAC&U, POD, ACUE, and many higher education institutions.

It is rare to have a special appearance for any singular institution, and it is the Faculty Center for Innovation's (FCI) privilege to host Dr. Addy speaking directly to the Park community. DEI is an essential issue of our times, and this year's keynote, in addition to Park's conference presenters, afford us the opportunity to grow in our understanding.

Based off of What Inclusive Instructors Do, this year's tracks will focus on:

- Instructional practices that support inclusive teaching (i.e. how to be a change agent in your own classroom and examples from the field)
- Strategies and resources for supporting student success (raising awareness of educational outcomes among different student populations and resources to help them)

Click the registration link below to let us know you intend to participate in the conference. Additional information will be provided closer to the event. For questions about the conference, please email innovate@park.edu. We look forward to seeing you on March 26th!
